STRASBOURG, Sept. 8, via London Sept. -The siege of Strasbourg continues with great vigor, and the Prussians are making the greatest efforts to secure its reduction. Four thousand Baden troops are working day and night in the third line of trenches quite near the city under a constant fire from the defenses. Over 2,000 citizens have been killed. The scream of shells can be heard five miles, The beautiful Cathedral has been partly destroyed. There are now over 500 cannon bearing upon the citadel, and 40,000 Baden troops are ready to enter as soon the walls are broken.

There are over 20,000 refugees within the walls, suffering all terrors of the bombardment. The fortifications are slowly Germans who are capture have their heads cut off and stuck or poles. One hundred Germans who were expelled have been killed between the fire of the two parties. The city is in flames in twenty different places and the rabble are pillaging houses and making destruction of everything they can lay hold of. There are daily thunder storms and the Rhine has risen, driving the inhabitants from the cellars. The people are fighting for places in the sewers to escape destruction from the shells, poured by hundreds into the streets. Six hundred citizens were buried by the falling of buildings. Every night the horizon for miles looks looks like mimic sunset with the blazing of Baden batteries.

Horse flesh is the only meat to be obtained. The inhabitants are on the verge of starvation. Awful scenes are witnessed. Many people are killed in bed, and the commander shoots at once all who talk of surrender. The mob are rioting nightly and demanding surrender. The city has not fired a gun since the 6th. It s under fire from three different direcions. The sluices which furnished the with water have been destroyed, thereby adding to the suffering of the people. It is known that 200,000 chassepots are stored in Strasbourg. Its immediate surrender is predicted. There are 7,000 regular troops now in the city.

It being now the season of the year when tourists and those who have been to more Northern regions, in consequence of the summer heat of Southern cities and locations, are returning to their home, we venture a few suggestions for their benefit, deeming the same timely and pertinent. While in the Northern section, on the seashore whither they have been recreating the season is over, in the South it is still hot, sultry and dull. This glorious climate of our Middle States affords a mean between these two extremes, of the most delightful character. The watering places and points of summer resort being deserted in lati-tudes north of us, the inducement for tourists and sojourners to remain there no longer exists. THE CITY.

Shortly after 6 O'clock last night the fire bells rang the alarm, and dense clouds of smoke with heavy columns of flame, were soon after seen issuing from the East wing of S. E. Jones' foundry and machine sheps, situated on the corner of Filimore and Castleman streets in South Nashville. The engines were promptly at the scene of the fire, where a large crowd had gathered, but owing to the fact that the engines had to draw water from a three inch pipe. there draw water from a three inch pipe, there was not a sufficiency to keep our steamers supplied. One of the engines had to force water from McCann's mill, a distance of water from McCann's mill, a distance of 1,800 feet, which, notwithstanding such a disadvantage, did fine execution. Following the direction of the wind, the foundry was soon wrapped in flames and destroyed. The spreading flames lit up the hills and the city around, while the exploding of shells which were in the foundry, having hear enthaned from hitls falls, the charges seen gathered from battle fields, the charges atill remaining, heightened the excitement. Though the fireman worked like Martier at Moscow, no headway was made against the flames, which, communicating with the machine shops, swept on, lapping every-thing up before them. The entire premises were soon enveloped, and almost acres of flame rolled and crackled their livid panorama before us. By eight o'clock the re-fiend had done its work, and the entire

Pleasant Time at the Maxwell. Hundreds of persons, ladies and gentlemen, visited the Maxwell House yesterday evening and last night besides the hosts of guests at the hotel. The elevator was in full blast, and mirth and music and refined socialities made festive merriment in the halls and parlors. Numerous were the congratulations showered upon Mr Kean on his noble hotel, and many a good wish he received. The successful operation of the elegant elevator was considered if parties wish they can linger around an event in the history of the hotel. Mr. Kean's princely hospitalities shown conspic-uously on the occasion, and the pleasantries will not soon be forgotten. At night the Odd Fellows' Brass Band serenaded the Maxwell and enjoyed a trip in the elevator, playing as they went up and came down. Eight hundred persons went up in the elevator from 7 o'clock till half-
